DETAILED ACTION

This action is responsive to applicant's amendment/remarks filed 7/18/06.
 Claims 14-29 are pending.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

- The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:
 - (a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior at are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negatived by the manner in which the invention was made.
- The factual inquiries set forth in Graham v. John Deere Co., 383 U.S. 1, 148
 USPQ 459 (1966), that are applied for establishing a background for determining obviousness under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) are summarized as follows:
 - 1. Determining the scope and contents of the prior art.
 - 2. Ascertaining the differences between the prior art and the claims at issue.
 - Resolving the level of ordinary skill in the pertinent art.
 - Considering objective evidence present in the application indicating obviousness or nonobviousness.
- 4. Claims 14- 24 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Nanbu et al (JP 10-114892), hereafter Nanbu, in view of Shirakawa (JP 61-147887). The examiner uses the machine translation and English abstract for the rejection purposes.
- Regarding claims 14-24, Nanbu discloses a volatile corrosion inhibitor to be mixed into a thermoplastic resin wherein said resin being a principal base material. The volatile corrosion inhibitor comprises a nitrite A (sodium nitrite, potassium nitrite, calcium nitrite, or ammonium nitrite), a pH buffer B (citric acid, tartaric acid or succinic acid), benzotriazole or its derivatives C (see the abstract, paragraphs 0011-0014).

- Shirakawa discloses a corrosion inhibitor comprises a polycarboxylic acid metal salt (sodium citrate), sodium nitrite, sodium benzoate.
- 7. It would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to have combined the ingredients used by Nanbu and Shirakawa, thereby improve corrosion to both ferrous and non-ferrous packing and storing materials. "It is prima facie obvious to combine two compositions each of which is taught by the prior art to be useful for the same purpose, in order to form a third composition to be used for the very same purpose.... [T]he idea of combining them flows logically from their having been individually taught in the prior art." In re Kerkhoven, 626 F.2d 846, 850, 205 USPQ 1069, 1072 (CCPA 1980)
- 8. Claims 25-29 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Nanbu and Shirakawa as applied to claim 1 above, and further in view of Otsuka (JP 09-124838). The examiner uses the machine translation and English abstract for the rejection purposes.
- Otsuka disclose a corrosion inhibitor being blended with a thermoplastic resin.
 The blend can be molded into different shape such as film, thread, and a container or used as a coating on the surface of a molded product (paragraph 0005).
- 10. It would have been obvious to use the composition of Nanbu and Shirakawa as taught by Otsuka, thereby to inhibit corrosion for packing and storing various goods which need corrosion prevention.
